Supervisors Put Off Cost Sharing Query

Joint Sessions With S. F. Board Planned After January 4

Pending seating of the new board of supervisors January 4, San Mateo's county campaign for rapid transit will take the form of conferences between Planning Advisor Hugh Pomeroy and Southern Pacific officials over feasibility of the peninsula terminal being moved closer to Market street.

This was seen today as the present board, in its last full meeting, ducked any action on San Francisco's query, presented through Pomeroy, as to the county's willingness to share the cost of a peninsula link in the San Francisco rapid transit setup.

Pomeroy said today, after reporting the progress of his efforts before the bay city board last week, that he would contact the railroad company officials immediately to discuss possibility of extending the Third and Townsend tracks to a new depot near Second street and Howard.

Everything points toward the scheduling of joint meetings between the county and San Francisco boards early in January, Pomeroy said.

Student Suspended For Black Jack Use

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Dec. 19—For attacking a University of California student with a blackjack during a pre-Big Game raid on the Berkeley campus, a Stanford freshman has been suspended from the university for the duration of winter quarter.

Announcement of the penalty, imposed by Men's Council, a student disciplinary board, was made public today. The culprit was identified only as "a certain student" in the order signed by Chairman Roy Branderson of the council and Dr. Robert E. Swain, acting president. The anonymous offender was charged with "inflicting bodily injury on a California student through use of a black jack."

Local Turkeys To Grace Yule Tables in East

Two palatable examples of what Redwood City's "air cooled by nature" climate can do for the turkey industry were speeding across the continent today in refrigerated express cars to delight the hearts and satisfy the appetites of the children of W. J. Miller, who with C. H. Heald operates a turkey farm on Eaton road.

The two birds, of the White Holland variety, were shipped Friday by Mr. Miller. Each of the young toms weighed 23½ pounds — yet they would not have been seven months old until next Wednesday.

Recipients of the potential feasts will be W. J. Miller Sr. and his sister, Mrs. P. J. McDonald, both of Buffalo, N. Y. The birds were sent in the same type of car used to ship cut flowers from this district.

Miller and Heald have raised 600 turkeys this year, some of them of the bronze type, with many growing even larger than those sent east.

Postmastership Filled, One More To Be Appointed

Congressman John J. McGrath, after filling one vacant postmastership, had another position to dispose of today.

McGrath, representative from the eighth district, named Charles South Jr. as Santa Clara's acting postmaster, succeeding his mother, Mrs. Jessie R. South, who died unexpectedly Wednesday night of a stroke.

In San Jose, Postmaster J. Derol Chace, holdover appointee from the Hoover administration, resigned the post he has held since September 19, 1931. The resignation will take effect December 31. Chace's action throws open the field to at least five candidates for the $4250 a year job, it is believed. They are George Lannin, realtor, endorsed by the county Democratic central committee; Phillip Sheehy, tax attorney; Joseph Chargin, orchardist; Frank Marten, broker, and T. F. Kilmartin, auto dealer.

Iowa state college researchers say a pig apparently puts on as much weight when fed "hard" corn as when it is fed "soft" corn.

CIVIC LEAGUE FLAYS 'COST OF POLITICS'

Investigations Begun Of County Expenses Since July 1st

Pointing to what they call "the high cost of politics in San Mateo county," members of the Civic League announced today that they had undertaken a series of studies of various expenditures of the county since July 1.

The investigations are based on the financial statement recently issued by Deputy Controller George Filbert, and are being made with the preparation of the next county budget in mind.

"By the time the present fiscal year closes June 30, 1937, officers of the Civic League hope to know the why and wherefore of many of the running expenditures of the county, as well as the final destination of the larger single items," an official said.

'BIDS NOT CALLED'

"Particularly, for instance, are we interested in knowing why various county officers are provided with fancy embossed letterheads at $16 per thousand; why preference is shown to various firms in the purchase of certain county supplies; why there is in general a lack of bidding for supplies."

The information now sought is in line with the announced policy of the league to bring about a general reorganization of county accounting methods.

Attention is especially directed to expenditures on highway maintenance under the road district plan, which was used until a few weeks ago.

ELECTION CUTS COSTS

Total of expenditures in the three districts, over which J. J. Fahey, Henry Daneri and William Brown were formerly foremen, were listed by the league to show how costs have been reduced since the recent election.

In June, the league asserted, road expenditures were $7090.06. In July they were $11,290.22. In August they were $10,619.68. But in September, following the primary election, they were only $7,736.25, and for the first half of October, $3048.01.

Engineer U. S. Marshall has already explained this partly, however, by asserting that peak of the road work is done in the summer time, but league officials pointed out that the fall is just as good a time for road work, particularly since rains did not start this year until December.

While road work is done with state gasoline tax funds, it still "costs every man who drives an automobile, something," the league pointed out.

Toy Pile Grows As Movies Seen By 400 Children

Four hundred Redwood City youngsters, bringing as many toys, came to the New Redwood Theatre Saturday for the special children's show given under auspices of the Sequoia Times and The Tribune, the theatre co-operating, to collect toys for their joint Toystack.

Donations also continued to come into The Tribune office during the day, including cash and several packages of toys, assuring now that each child whose name has been turned in to either The Tribune or Sequoia Times will receive at least two toys when Christmas morning dawns. Cash donations total approximately $40 while the total number of toys secured to date is estimated at 650.

The M. P. Matteson Company has donated services in picking up and delivering to the high school several consignments of toys this afternoon. Members of Redwood City Exchange Club, instead of exchanging better gifts this year, will exchange toys at their meeting Tuesday night, afterwards donating them to the toystack. J. C. Penney Company also donated a consignment of toys today.

To make this the merriest Christmas ever for children of needy families in the community, donations will continue to be received at The Tribune office until Thursday of next week.

RABBITS MAKE HOUNDS VICIOUS

Cats, Children Reported Periled in Millbrae

ABATEMENT OF EVIL DEMANDED

That cats and children and even adults are not safe from molestation by grephounds in the Marina Vista Park track near Millbrae were charges made by a militant group of northend residents before the county planning commission Friday afternoon. They demanded abatement of two marina Vista kennels allegedly operating without a permit.

Leading the protestants was Mrs. John Cooper of Marina Vista, who told the planners that "our people don't even dare dress children in white for fear they'll be mistaken for rabbits by the hounds and chased."

"You can't even go down the street with meat from a butcher shop, if the wind is in the right direction, without having dogs bounding all over you," another irate resident declared.

The charges would have been tinged with some degree of humor had they not been delivered with vehemence and followed by the blunt question, "What are you going to do about it?"

The planners' response was to pass a recommendation that the board of supervisors deny the application of R. D. Taylor, Bay street, Marina Vista Park, for a kennel permit. Taylor, the irate delegation charged, runs one of the kennels to which they objected. The other is operated by a "Miss McRea." The planners also recommended that she be denied a permit, although to date, they said, she has not asked for one.

Denies Veto Awaits Plan

John J. McGrath, eighth district congressman, speaking to a mass meeting of Townsendites in San Jose over the week-end, renewed his pledges to bring the Townsend plan onto the floor of congress at its coming session.

McGrath, who expressed his confidence that President Roosevelt would not veto the Townsend plan should it be passed by congress, was loudly applauded by the audience which rose, at the conclusion of his talk, to sing "God Be With You 'Till We Meet Again."

G. C. Stearns of Burlingame, introduced by Chairman E. H. Dean of Mountain View, gave a detailed analysis of the Townsend plan.

Reports were made that thousands of Townsend petitions have been signed in this district, with an increasing number of influential supporters.

The meeting, one of the largest Townsend meetings in recent months, enjoyed community singing under the leadership of Mrs. Grace Lurky of Mountain View. Santa Cruz visitors provided instrumental numbers and Mrs. Thelma Van Buel sang two solos.

Holiday Work Time For Radio Addicts

Vacation is just an opportunity to get in a little extra work—or perhaps they consider it play — for members of Sequoia high school's Radio-Physics Club. Instead of completely abandoning academic work for the two-week Christmas vacation, seven or eight of the club members are planning to spend two or three hours each day working on radio theory and practice in preparation for taking the radio amateur operator's license. The club has just completed construction of an oscillator of the loud speaker type for code work.

Trees Lighted In R. C. Homes

Sending a multi-colored greeting of Christmas cheer to passers-by, Yule tree lights were turned on in many Redwood City homes and on many local outdoor Christmas trees over the week-end.

Serving as brilliant symbols of Christmas spirit and good will, the lights gave the residential districts the same holiday aspect that has been enjoyed by the business section this year with its garlands of lights strung across the streets.

Appearance of the decorations on outdoor trees brought a plea from Dr. August Fromm, chairman of the Lions Club outdoor Christmas tree contest, for residents to enter their decorations in the club's annual outdoor Yule tree contest.

Entry blanks have been appearing regularly in The Tribune and must be sent to the Outdoor Christmas tree editor, care of The Tribune, before December 28. Judging will take place December 29. Seven prizes have been offered.

The fact that local stores reported sales today of several sets of decorations for outdoor trees indicated that there will be a busy night ahead for several families and that the number of lighted outdoor trees will be increased before Christmas.

Hayne, Burlingame Pioneer, Succumbs

SAN MATEO, Dec. 21 — Final funeral services were held in Burlingame yesterday for Robert Y. Hayne, capitalist and son of Mrs. Grace P. Hayne, of San Mateo, with interment at St. Johns' Cemetery. Hayne, who died December 17, in Coronado, is survived by his widow, Mrs. Helen L. Hayne, and a daughter. The Haynes are a pioneer local family, and Hayne road in Hillsborough was named for them.

COUNTY DRIVE ON GAMBLING UPHELD HERE

Ferrell and McGrath Take Exception To Webb Talk

After listening to Atty. Gen. U. S. Webb demand last week of district attorneys and peace officers a state-wide drastic drive to curb gambling, Dist. Atty. Gilbert Ferrell and Sheriff James J. McGrath agreed here that this county's efforts to curb gambling were proceeding satisfactorily.

Disagreeing with Webb in his statement in San Francisco that if the "three arms of the law, district attorneys, police and sheriffs, decree in any community that gambling must cease, it will cease immediately," Sheriff McGrath said that San Mateo county could not be handled in this way.

"The proper method to stamp out gambling in San Mateo county is through undercover agents," the sheriff stated.

$3000 IN FINES

Ferrell concurred, saying, "We will continue the present setup as long as we feel it is necessary."

At the same time the district attorney's office announced that in the four months of James O'Hanlon's services as special investigator for Ferrell, more than $3000 had been collected in fines, most of them on charges of slot-machine violations.

The district attorney's office "took comfort," however, in the statement by Webb that the responsibility for making arrests in a drive against gambling lies with the peace officers, while the district attorney's office must get convictions.

SUBTERFUGE USED

Asked why the sheriff's office should not bear the burden of gambling arrests here, Sheriff McGrath said that he had no money for undercover agents, hired by the district attorney through a special fund granted him by the supervisors at the request of the last grand jury.

"I have been so troubled by subterfuge—secret panels and other methods of hiding gambling—that I have long been convinced that the proper way to handle the problem is undercover, by going out Saturday nights and getting evidence without going in and smashing up places and causing riots which might result in someone's getting killed," McGrath said.

HITS AT GRAND JURY

Then he took a verbal crack at the 1936 grand jury, saying, "That was what was wrong with the last grand jury. They wanted rough stuff which might have resulted in bloodshed.

"The present system functions more efficiently and smoothly.

"This county is the least of the malefactors," McGrath concluded.

Woodside Woman, Pioneer Resident Of County, Dies

The long and interesting life of Mrs. Rebecca Bogle came to an end Monday when the pioneer peninsula resident passed away at her home at Woodside after a year's illness.

Mrs. Bogle, who came "around the Horn" in the early '60's in a windjammer on which nearly half the passengers died of scurvy during the eight months' trip, was 89 years of age. She had lived in Woodside for 45 years, having moved there with her late husband, Joseph Samuel Bogle, San Francisco shipbuilder. He passed away 30 years ago.

Mrs. Bogle is survived by three children, George E. Bogle of Woodside, Mrs. Anna Parlin of San Francisco and Mrs. Laura Abramson of San Mateo. In addition, a number of grandchildren and four great grandchildren mourn her passing.

Mrs. Bogle was a native of Baltimore, Md.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Thursday at the James Crowe Company mortuary. Interment will follow at the family plot in Cypress Lawn Cemetery.

Gift of Purse Robs Telephone Girl of Speech

For once a telephone operator was without words.

This unique situation occurred in the court house Saturday when Superior Judge A. R. Cotton, leaving for a two-weeks vacation trip to southern California and Arizona, gave a bead purse to Thais Kirkpatrick, courthouse operator, as a Christmas memento of appreciation for always getting the right numbers.

The gift literally left the operator breathless and wordless.

Other evidence of Christmas spirit in the courthouse was the 20-foot tree, gaily decorated and lighted, set up in the rotunda. At the foot of the tree is a model of a typical peninsula home.

Ex-Police Chief Of Daly City Is Crash Victim

Companion Badly Hurt As Machine Speeds Away Into Night

Having left a grim wake of death, injuries and property damage, three peninsula hit-run drivers were the objects of a statewire search today as a Burlingame hit-runner was given his choice of a $250 fine or 90 days in jail.

The bloody toll of two days packed with hit-run and reckless driving offenses was one man dead, three critically hurt and five others seriously injured.

Most tragic of the series of crashes was that in Daly City Saturday night where Jack Doyle, 46, for 14 years Daly City's police chief, was killed and another man injured by a hit-run driver speeding through a safety zone.

SECOND FEARED DYING

Doyle, who recently became a patrolman in a political shake-up that saw James Reardon named chief, died a few minutes after being admitted to Junipero Serra Hospital. Physicians there estimated as only "fair" the chances for recovery of Vic Berneri, 40, Colma, whom Doyle was helping across the street when the pair was struck. Berneri, knocked under a street car, suffered internal injuries.

Less than an hour preceding this 7:50 o'clock accident at Market and Mission streets, another pedestrian was struck and injured in Daly City. He was Patrick Garrent, run down at Moltke and Mission by a coupe that police said was not the same machine which later ran down Doyle and Berneri. Garrent, 44, San Francisco, suffered a broken leg.

TWO IN BURLINGAME

At 8:20 o'clock the same evening two machines were side-swiped by a speeding car in Burlingame. The first car crashed into was that of C. F. Rafael, 310 Hazel avenue, San Bruno. The second, struck as the hit-runner caromed off Rafael's machine, was driven by Raymond C. Sherman, San Francisco. Neither Sherman nor Rafael was hurt.

It was in connection with this last accident that Lloyd Hargis, 23, Bay Meadows stableman, faced Judge R. L. Stone in Burlingame this morning. Up to late today he had not been able to produce the $250 fine on the hit-run charge.

Hargis was arrested with Guy Tipton, 23, also a Bay Meadows stableman, late Saturday in South San Francisco. Patrolmen Frank Chevalier and Frank Quinn cited the pair for reckless driving, then returned the pair to Burlingame for questioning on the hit-run case. The license of Hargis' car had been broadcast over police radio.

Hargis still faces the reckless driving charge filed by the patrolmen. Tipton is also being held as a material witness.

Junior College Board's Haste In Move Scored

PETITIONS URGED

2909 Signatures Are Necessary to Halt Automatic Merger

Residents of the Sequoia Union High School District, which extends from Belmont on the north to the south county line, should have an opportunity to vote on whether or not they wish to become a part of a county-wide junior college district.

This was the conclusion reached Friday night by the local high school's board of trustees at a session which saw haste of the San Mateo trustees in forcing the consolidation move roundly criticized.

Without discussing merits or disadvantages of the merger proposal, the board voted unanimously to "call attention of the people to the fact that the only way to secure an election on the question is by presenting a petition, signed by 20 per cent of the voters in the district, to the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors at their meeting January 11, the date set for hearing on the question."

ANNEXATION AUTOMATIC

If such a petition is not presented, the annexation of this district to the San Mateo High School and Junior College District is automatic, it was pointed out.

Annexation would preclude the establishment in the future of a junior college here, and would raise the tax rate for college purposes in this district, which now pays 4.7 cents per $100 for junior college support.

N. F. O. CLUB OPPOSED

At their meeting last week, members of the North Fair Oaks Improvement Club voted opposition to Sequoia Union High School District becoming a part of a proposed county-wide junior college district. The club was the first organization here to report having so placed itself on record.

Petitions would have to be signed by 2909 bonafide registered voters in this district to be of effect, since there are 14,544 registered

ENGINEER TOLD TO FIX GRADE TO BEAR GULCH

County Engineer U. S. Marshall was busy today on rectifying the one "serious" discrepancy between peninsula city and county boundaries after the board of supervisors cleaned the slate yesterday of troublesome matters that have appeared frequently on its agenda.

Both Burlingame and the county claim the Hillside Circle area. Marshall said yesterday that he believed the city's claim to the district was justified. Other differences in boundaries were seen as not as important as the Hillside Circle case, apt to have an important influence on any future elections.

While Marshall sought to rectify the Hillside Circle dispute between Burlingame and the county, backed up by board instructions to make whatever revisions were necessary to bring the maps into accord, the district attorney's office was at work on an investigation of the filing of maps in the county recorder's office.

MAPS NOT FILED

Asst. Dist. Atty. Daniel Sullivan told the board that he had been notified by Oliver J. Hobson, record clerk of the county engineering department, that over 400 maps in the recorder's office had not been filed because "no money had been requested in Recorder T. C. Rice's budget to put the maps into books."

"There are also two books of recorded maps that are so full of errors they should be burned," Sullivan said.

"Such a condition is driving all the title business into the title companies."

Supervisor Fred Beer, terming the situation "serious," urged that the district attorney's office bring the matter up "later" for the board's consideration. The problem may be one of the first placed before the new board in January.

RELIEF DISPUTE SETTLED

The old question of the disputed relief funds, Bear Gulch road and the John Keelty coastside service station permit were finally "liquidated," the Bear Gulch road case producing a verbal "dressing down" for Engineer U. S. Marshall.

The road problem occupied the board for nearly an hour as George Keyston of Hillsborough, San Francisco stockholder who owns property on the Bear Gulch road, protested road conditions that "ostracized" residents there during the winter, preventing sick people from being brought to the hospital, children from reaching school and milk from being brought to market.

"If we don't have a road there," Keyston flared, "the fault is not ours, but that of County Engineer Marshall. We have been after him persistently for four months without satisfaction."

'TOO STEEP TO REPAIR'

Marshall countered by saying that the road was too steep to repair in wet weather, and that his trucks have been too busy on important WPA projects for him to be able to put men and machinery on the Bear Gulch road.

Supervisor John Poole moved, with Supervisor Beer seconding, that Marshall be instructed to provide as many men as possible to grade the lower mile of the three-mile Bear Gulch road leading to Redwood City.

Over recommendation of the planning commission that the board deny Keelty's request for a permit for a gasoline station opposite Mussel Rock on the coast highway, the board approved the permit with the proviso that Keelty secure the approval of the building inspector and of the planning commission for whatever type of structure he desires to construct.

COMMITTEE ABSOLVED

Settling the county relief committee's complaint that the engineering department had used $23,000 of relief funds for road building, Supervisor Beer put through a motion that the county clerk be instructed to write a letter attesting the county's "undying gratitude" for the committee's "gratuitous service" and absolving the committee of all responsibility for expenditure of the funds, but explaining that it was beyond the power of the board to restore the $23,000.

The board also instructed the district attorney's office to investigate the charges of Marina Vista residents that two kennels were operating in that community without a permit. The residents charged before the planning commission Friday that the greyhounds were annoying children and adults, keeping the neighborhood awake with their "yowling and yapping."

Other business before the board included:

FAVOR WATER PLANT

Approval of the planning commission's recommendation that a site he purchased on the easterly entrance of Pescadero Creek into Memorial Park for construction of a $12,100 pumping plant that will remedy the park's acute water shortage.

Approved Controller Edward M. Stack's request that he be permitted to hire three girls for three months, at a total salary of $900, and six men for one month, at a total cost of $600, to complete compilation of tax records.

Ordered the county clerk to notify the state department controlling advertising that 11 billboards were being displayed on the Junipero Serra boulevard in violation of a county zoning ordinance. The advertisers are also to be notified. The action was taken after protest by the Hillsborough Garden Club.

Referred the application of Agricultural District No. 1A officials for permission to build a spur track to the Visitacion Valley pavilion to County Engineer Marshall, who was instructed to confer on the request with Bayshore City officials.

Department Store Manager Succumbs

BURLINGAME, Dec. 21—Ill for only a short time, John Watts, Sr., 60, of Burlingame, manager of a San Francisco department store, died yesterday at Mills Memorial Hospital. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Marie Watts; a son, John, former Burlingame high school football star and now at Oregon State College; and a daughter, Betty.

Funeral will be held at 2 p.m. tomorrow from the William Crosby Mortuary in Burlingame, followed by cremation at Cypress Lawn Cemetery.

Under state law, if the petitions are not circulated and signed, consolidation of this district with the San Mateo area becomes effective immediately.

Haste of the San Mateo board in pushing the move to a conclusion without prior warning was scored first by President James Hedge when he declared:

"Personally, I don't like the way the board of trustees has gone about this matter. It looks as if we were being given the "rush act."

"Last February after citizens had protested at a mass meeting, we were given to understand that nothing would be done for a year.

"I don't question the motives of the trustees of the junior college. Perhaps they feel 100 per cent justified in what they are doing. But I do feel that the people should have a chance to vote on this question."

L. A. Barrett of Belmont declared that "people up our way feel a good deal the same."

'RAILROADING' OBJECTED TO

"I think there should be more opportunity for the public to be informed of this thing. We should not be 'railroaded' into the merger," he asserted.

Secretary W. W. Hilton and Trustees Charles H. Merrill and Clifton Woodhams expressed simmilar sentments, with the result that it was decided, on motion of Merrill, second of Hilton, to call attention of the public to the situation and the fact that immediate action is necessary if the school district is not to be absorbed by the San Mateo district.

Grand Jury Drawing Set for December 29

Watchdogs of San Mateo county's official and political morality in 1937, the grand jury to be named from a panel selected by Superior Judge Maxwell McNutt will be chosen December 29.

Next Tuesday the 30 veniremen will be notified by Sheriff James McGrath of the day when they must appear in Superior Court. There the names will be placed in a jury box and 19 names drawn. Judge McNutt has the right to excuse any of the veniremen from jury duty, if he judges their excuses valid, with further names being drawn from the box until the jury is complete.

Third of Seal Funds Are In

That $3566.81 of an anticipated $10,000 has now been received in San Mateo county's 1936 Christmas Seal Campaign was revealed today by sponsors of the 30th annual seal sale.

While the amount received last year already has been surpassed, the additional funds are needed this year because determination has been reached by the sponsoring committee to give tuberculin tests to all the 6680 high school students on the peninsula.

Of these youngsters, who are between 15 and 19 years of age, it is estimated that approximately 2340 will be considered "positive reactors," the estimation being based on definite experiences in this state, according to Dr. William H. Murphy of San Mateo, public relations chairman of the San Mateo County Medical Society, who recently discussed the tuberculosis situation in a radio broadcast.

When those subject to the disease are discovered, search for the focal point for the actual sources of infection will be made, with the object in mind of controlling the disease. Each student with a positive reaction must be X-rayed to determine the extent of the disease, and then rest and proper treatment will be prescribed for him to stop progress of the infection.

Because of this large program—broadest ever attempetd in this county—every cent of the $10,000 budget is needed. Consequently, those who have not yet mailed in their contributions in return for which they already have received seals, are urged not to forget this important duty. Seals are being sold by mail only, there being no booths in postoffices or banks as there have been in some past years. Nor are school children selling seals this year. No authorization has been given, either, for the seals to be sold from door to door.

Young Hurley's Death Held Due to Accident

SAN ANDREAS, Calif., Dec. 21 (UP)—The accidental discharge of a shotgun held by Edgar S. Hurley, former state senator, killed Hurley's 22-year-old son, William, authorities reported today after investigating the mishap which occurred while the Hurleys were hunting near Mohawk mine, which they operated.

Funeral services were to be held in Oakland today.

Yuletide Spirit Affects Fines

Redwood City drivers are succumbing, apparently, to the gentle influence of Christmas, and not pressing down so hard on their accelerators.

Only three of the 15 persons cited for speeding and appearing in the traffic court of Judge Edward I McAuliffe were arrested by city police, the others all receiving "tickets" from the men of Capt. Paul Perussina.

Fines contributed by speed offenders on the state highway were: Lillian Moser, San Francisco, $10; Harry T. Reho, Pebble Beach, Otto J. Becker, San Francisco, Ramah Lund, Palo Alto, E. Ronald Long, Berkeley, Alijo Digay, Watsonville and John Haffener, Stanford University, all of whom paid $5; and August A. Caumon, San Carlos, Lewis Chamberlain, Salinas, Zadoc J. Riggs, Oregon, Joseph G. Brown, Los Angeles, and Helen Ione Gray, San Francisco, $2.50 aapiece.

The trio of city speeders were Emile Marroney and J. B. Allen, both of whom paid $2.50 apiece, and Marjorie Adams, who had her operator's license suspended for 30 days.

Other offenders in the unincorporated area were George Bouffin, San Francisco, fined $5 for overtaking on the right; Guiddo Fabbro of Redwood City and William Muniz, Hayward, assessed $2.50 apiece for not stopping at arterials, and Guy John White, San Francisco, who paid $2.50 for driving through a stoplight. Manuel Nunes of Centerville paid $2.50 for violating trucking laws.

Overparkers cited by Redwood City police and paying a penalty of $1 apiece were J. Hawkins and William O'Connor, while violating Redwood City's regulations on "U" turns cost E. Gourden and Fred Pilhop $1 apiece.

U. S. Foreign Policy Chosen Debate Topic

The policy to be pursued by the United States in the event of a foreign war is the topic chosen by Peninsula Debate League for its next series of debates, to be held in March. The question as stated is "Resolved: That in the event of war, the United States should adopt a policy of complete isolation."

Sequoia high school holds the lead in league standings as a result of its defeat of both Los Gatos and Palo Alto in contests last week. Santa Cruz is also included in the league.

An oratorical contest will be sponsored by lthe league at Sequoia on April 23.

Cyclist Is Injured Here Avoiding Car

Suffering from a fractured pelvis, Emil Fackler, 35, of San Francisco was in Mills Memorial Hospital in San Mateo today, as result of an accident on his motorcycle Saturday evening, when he assertedly attempted to pass the car of H. E. Swanson, 1304 Jefferson avenue, on the right side at the intersection of El Camino Real and Harrison streets, Redwood City.

There was no collision, but when Fackler saw that Swanson was going to turn off onto Harrison, he swung his motorcycle around and overturned, officers reported. The motorcycle threw Fackler to the sidewalk, and skidded with him 20 feet, police said.

S. F. Refuses Plea for Cheap Hetchy Water

Redwood City's Plans To Use More Dealt Blow By Delay

Hopes of Redwood City citizens that they might soon have more Hetch Hetchy water in their supply were dealt a severe blow Tuesday by action of the San Francisco supervisors in rejecting, at least until Thursday, new low water rates for peninsula communities.

Although it was believed unlikely that the board would reject the proposed rate cuts finally, its failure to approve them immediately at yesterday's session was declared to be highly unexpected and to indicate that sharp disagreement may appear Thursday, date set for a special hearing before reaching a decision.

"We must try to cut the rates for our own people first," declared Supervisor James B. McSheehy. "They should get the reductions before our neighbors do."

MEANS TO END

"We're voting blindly if we vote now," argued Supervisor Adolph Uhl, although the board's finance and utilities committee had approved the new schedule.

"San Francisco is a big bald city," said McSheehy. "We need more trees and gardens. The way to get them is to give the homeowner cheaper water."

Supervisor Jesse Colman pointed out that the Public Utilities Commission hoped to gain enough additional revenue from added peninsula sales to give San Franciscans a general rate cut.

10-CENT RATE PROPOSED

Already Redwood City had agreed to increase its consumption, and Palo Alto and other communities have discussed building a pipeline to bring Hetch Hetchy water to their citizens.

Redwood City, through its council, had planned to increase its supply of Hetch Hetchy to 66 2-3 per cent of the total, instead of 50 per cent.

ARCH STREET ZONING PLAN IS OPPOSED

289 Protest Grocery Building on Site; Hearing Set

Proposal to rezone a lot on the southwest corner of Arch and Brewster streets for business so that a grocery might be established there—west of El Camino Real—produced expected vigorous opposition at Monday night's meeting of the city planning commission and council.

As a result, following an hour and a half of arguments, the question was finally set for a public hearing January 11 at 8 p.m. in the firehouse auditorium, where last night's discussions took place.

The subject first went before the planning commission, meeting in a special 7:30 o'clock session. To conclude discussion, Commissioner Edward Allen moved, with John Layng seconding, that the rezoning from a second class residential area be recommended to the council.

289 SIGN PETITION

With the council's session following, the matter immediately came before that body, the result being a decision to call the hearing, at which time final disposition of the case is to be made. Councilman James M. Eva introduced the motion for the hearing, with Councilman George McNulty seconding.

Establishment of the grocery by Safeway Stores was vigorously opposed by Atty. Edmund Scott, who presented a petition signed by 289 Redwood City residents protesting the contemplated move. Signers of the petition live in scattered sections of the city, only a few residing within the near proximity of the site.

BUSINESS ON EAST SIDE

William Hohn, city councilman, also spoke before the commission against the contemplated rezoning, while both Scott and Smith later offered their arguments again before the city council, previous to the council's action in referring the question to a special hearing.

During the planning commission's meeting, Scott and Hohn argued that the "thought has always been to maintain the business district on the east side of El Camino Real and residences on the west side."

"We believe," Scott said, referring to the petition he flied with the commission and the city council, "that to build another store there would be a detrimental intrusion on the residential section and unfair to those who have already established their homes there.

HIGHWAY DIVIDING LINE

"The logical line of demarcation is the state highway. While it is true the proposed rezoning affects only one lot, that lot is the key to the whole situation there. We want to salvage what we still have left."

Hohn made the statement that "we have to draw the line somewhere." He further pointed out that in the original real estate advertising affecting that area it was promised then that no business houses would be established there.

Smith, on the other hand, asserted that the area had been zoned in March, 1925, as a business block, except for the one unimproved lot, to keep it from having a "speculative value."

ONLY ONE IN BLOCK

"But now we are just completing the area that has always been agreed would be a business district. This final lot is separated from the residences across the road by a parkway, and it is the only section on the block not now zoned for business," Smith reasoned.

Later, in the argument before the city council, Scott made the charge that to establish a retail store at the contemplated point would "in fact, create a monopoly in the district west of the highway that would be unfair to local merchants who had placed their faith in business interests located east of El Camino Real on Broadway."

WHY MOTHERS GET GRAY.

Seal Moneys Used at Home

As the drive for $10,000 in funds through sale of Christmas seals neared the half-way mark, leaders in the campaign, headed by Dr. William F. Knorp of San Mateo, pointed out today that 75 per cent of the money derived is to be used at home—to attempt to effect "complete eradication of tuberculosis in San Mateo county."

With the first joint seal sale in 1910, the National Tuberculosis Association and the American Red Cross established the policy that the major part of the proceeds of the Christmas Seal Sale should remain in the local area where the seals are sold. Out of this policy grew another — that the seals, wherever sold, should contribute to the support of the national and state associations. These policies have been largely responsible for the steady growth of the tuberculosis movement, for they have made provision for development of local tuberculosis work and at the same time have given to state and national organizations funds essential for promotion and standardization of methods and programs.

As a result of these policies, 5 per cent of the funds go to the National Tuberculosis Association, and 20 per cent to state work. This is used for tuberculosis research, administration and purchase of seals. The rest stays with tuberculin testing of high schools in the county, to be used for students, of whom there are 6680 in this county.

While most contributions come in in $1 amounts, from sale of seals, many contribute more. Largest contributor to the 1936 campaign in San Mateo is Mrs. Addie Ghirardelli, 801 West Santa Inez avenue, Hillsborough. She purchased a $100 bond.

$100 Fine Imposed On Grace Brown Here

On condition that she pay a $100 fine, Grace Brown, Redwood City title company employe who pleaded guilty to a reduced charge of reckless driving in connection with the Labor Day weekend death of Louis Pinzi, 24, Alameda, was granted two years' probation by Judge Maxwell McNutt yesterday afternoon.

Conditions of the probation will force Miss Brown, 501 Duane street, to remain within the state boundaries, and to report to Probation Officer Francis Robinson the first Monday of each month. The $100 fine is the minimum penality possible under conviction of the charge, reduced from negligent homicide.

ART TEACHER LEAVES POST AT SEQUOIA

Stanley Rollin Follows Predecessor South; Successor Sought

For the second time within two years, Sequoia high school has lost its art and stage craft director to Santa Monica Junior College.

Stanley Rollin, who succeeded to the local faculty when Waldemar Johansen took the position of director of art and stage craft at the southern institution, will again take Johansan's place, with Johansen taking over the position of assistant director of Stanford University's new Memorial Theatre. Rollin, who taught his last day at Sequoia Friday, will begin his new work January 4.

With the school adjourned for two weeks Christmas holidays, the board of trustees met Friday night, accepting Rollin's resignation and making plans for 11 additional classes to take care of the 105 freshmen who will be midterm entrants when school resumes January 4.

Rollin's former position has not been filled as yet, Board Chairman James D. Hedge announced.

Landscape Aid For Fair Asked

Peninsula communities are to play a leading role in the landscaping program of the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition, according to Leland W. Cutler of Woodside, exposition president.

First opportunity for participation in the creation of gardens for the World's Fair was offered today with the launching of a program to obtain donations of all available specimens of shrubs and trees suitable for the background of towers and palaces.

Already the City of Palo Alto has come forward with an offer of trees and shrubs which will start 45 workers this week to digging and boxing them. In addition, Stanford University has given 60 oak trees, which will be boxed and barged to the fair site on Yerba Buena Island. San Mateo and Burlingame have already contributed a number of specimens, Cutler reported.

Henry R. Sander of Palo Alto, of the exposition bureau of horticulture, is in charge of the procurement program in this region. A Stanford University graduate, he has been connected with Peninsula nurseries for several years.

Mr. Sander said: "The World's Fair is especially interested in the acquisition of evergreen trees and shrubs, but we also welcome donations of everything that Peninsula residents may offer. Many of the Stanford oaks are 30 feet in height and we have equipment to handle all material regardless of size. This is a splendid opportunity for residents of Menlo, Woodside, Redwood City, and other communities to share in the building of the 1939 Exposition."

Landscaping donations in this region can be offered by letter to Henry R. Sander, 465 Lowell avenue, Palo Alto, or by telephoning Palo Alto 7224, preferably from 8 a.m. to 9 a.m. Communications may also be addressed to J. L. Girod, Bureau of Horticulture, Golden Gate International Exposition, 585 Bush street, San Francisco.

FIRE CAPTAIN CHEATS GRADE CRASH DEATH

San Franciscan Badly Hurt As Machine, Engine Collide

Thrown through the windshield of his car when it was struck by the Sunset Limited at 7 o'clock Friday evening at the Broadway crossing in North Burlingame, Capt. Lawrence Joseph Dwyer, 45, veteran San Francisco fireman, was critically injured.

Physicians at Mills Memorial Hospital believed today, however, that Dwyer would survive a skirmish with death that was more nearly fatal than anything he has undergone in 22 years of service with the San Francisco department.

Police said eye witnesses told them that Dwyer nearly crossed the tracks, having failed either to see the train or having thought he had time to get across before the train came by. The locomotive struck the rear of Dwyer's car and catapulted it 20 feet against a stop signal, felled by the impact.

Dwyer, alone in the car, suffered a possible jaw fracture, concussion of the brain and lacerations of the face and scalp when he was thrown forward and his head smashed through the windshield.

Dwyer is captain of Engine No. 20 at the Lombard street fire station. He lives at 694 Nineteenth avenue.

The train was brought to a stop nearly 400 feet from the scene of the crash, with some of the wreckage from the car still clinging to the locomotive.

Reorganization Set For Sequoia's Hi-Y

Plans for the reorganization of Sequoia high school's Hi-Y and division of the organization into two groups, one for juniors and seniors and the other for freshmen and sophomores, were made at a meeting of the Hi-Y last week at the school. The reorganization will be completed after the Christmas holidays, Lawrence Hatch and Paul Hochstettler each to supervise one group. Plans were also outlined for a "sports night" program after the holidays.

Food Handlers Lead in Sales

San Mateo county's 1,371 stores made a total of $24,513,000 worth of sales in 1935 as its share of state retail business which showed a gain of 38 per cent over 1933, figures presented by the federal department of commerce disclosed today.

Statistics for the entire state showed that 100,874 stores made total sales of $2,329,009,000 last year, employing 262,524 full-time and part-time employes who were paid a total pay roll of $273,641,000.

Breakdown of the employe and payroll figures for San Mateo county showed that 1,369 proprietors had hired 2,395 full-time and part-time employes for a total payroll of $2,474,000.

207 STORES HERE

A still further breakdown revealed that Redwood City, with a population listed in the report as 8,962, had 207 stores, whose sales totalled $4,420,000. The local stores, with 200 proprietors, had 443 employes who were paid $449,000. The figures showed Redwood City to be second in the county for number of stores, San Mateo having 222 and Burlingame trailing with 197. But both northerly cities surpassed the local community in amount of sales and number of employes.

The statistics pointed out the curious fact that although Burlingame had less stores than San Mateo, it made more sales. San Mateo's stores made total sales of $4,807,000, while Burlingame's sales were $6,995,000.

FOOD STORE LEAD

Analyzing the figures still further, the department of commerce listed Redwood City's 61 food stores as leading the city in amount of sales.

The number of stores in the different kinds of business and their sales here follow: food, 61 stores, sales $1,427,000; 33 eating and drinking places, sales $224,000; 8 stores in the general merchandise group, sales $689,000; 10 in the apparel group, sales $65,000; 21 in the automotive group, sales $767,000; 23 filling stations, sales $435,000; 7 furniture, household or radio stores, sales $61,000; nine lumber, building or hardware stores, sales $257,000; seven drug stores, sales $163,000; 28 other stores (including liquor stores), sales $332,000.

San Mateo Resident For 72 Years Dies

SAN MATEO, Dec. 19.—Ill for only a few days, Ernest A. Husing, 87, who watched San Mateo grow from a community of several hundred inhabitants to a city of nearly 20,000 people, died at his home here last night. He came to San Mateo 72 years ago.

The pioneer is survived only by his daughter, Mrs. Ethel I. Cahalan, wife of Harry Cahalan, Burlingame material purchaser.

The tree-frog is more closely related in structure to toads than to frogs proper.

M. P. Slot Machine Owner Fined $100

John J. Repetto of Menlo Park, proprietor of the Yellow Lantern cafe there, was fined $100 for possession of a slot machine, records of Justice of the Peace Edward I. McAuliffe disclosed today. The coin device was seized several weeks ago by District Attorney's Investigator James O'Hanlon, accompanied by Deputy Sheriff Matt Farrell.

Boy Gets $10,000 For Crash Injuries

As a premature Christmas present to assuage his suffering, Harold R. Carles, 17-year-old Burlingame youth, held an award today of $10,000 for injuries sustained in a 1933 Bayshore highway automobile accident.

It took a jury in Judge Maxwell McNutt's local court just one hour to award Carles the damages, through his mother and guardian, Mrs. Margaret E. Carles, against Ralph Jan, San Francisco fur salesman.

The Burlingame widow testified that young Carles, amateur newspaperman, besides suffering a permanently injured leg, had his nervous system affected by the accident and became afflicted with hallucinations from which he is only just recovering and which have caused his confinement to a state hospital.

Estate to Occupy Judge on Vacation

With distribution of $3,347,000 on his mind, Superior Judge A. R. Cotton has left for a two week trip that will take him to an Arizona desert resort before he returns to Pasadena in time to witness the Rose Bowl football game New Years.

The tremendous sum which "weighed" him down was in the form of briefs in the final accounting of the huge estate of Mrs. Agnes Bourn, wife of the late William Bourn, former president of the Spring Valley Water Company.

Judge Cotton finished up his court work yesterday by taking the case under submission after eight attorneys had argued all day the meaning of wordings of several specific bequests made by the former mistress of Filoli, estate on the shores of Crystal Springs Lake.
